INDEX

Logline:

Aldara shares a love story with a boy from a parallel dimension, who visits her and takes her to unravel the mysteries of human existence, transcending herself in the multiverse.

After a near-death experience, Aldara begins to experience lucid dreams* in places she never saw, crossing paths with Íuri, who she falls in love with but belong from a parallel dimension.

As she gains conscience of her existence in other dimensions, the relationship with Yuri blossoms and fades over time, entering in stages they do not yet understand.

During her trip, the different dimensions begin to entwine and converge into a single truth of what would be the transcendence of the human soul, finding along the way the meaning of life, love, death and reincarnation.
